

Westport Library Presents

ENERGY EFFICIENCY With Kayla Gutheil

FREE - Tuesday, May 27, 2025 - 7pm

This workshop will cover a wide variety of topics, beginning with a brief overview of the North Country Clean Energy Hub and the ways in which an Energy Advisor can help you address your personal energy concerns. We will also discuss at-home measures that residents can take to make their homes more comfortable while lowering their energy bills. Finally, we will take a closer look at the state and federal incentive programs available to renters and homeowners alike.

About Kayla: Kayla is an Energy Advisor for Clinton and Essex Counties, and she works for the energy team at Cornell Cooperative Extension of Jefferson County and the North Country Clean Energy Hub. In her role, Kayla works one-on-one with residents to help find the best solutions for energy savings in their homes or small businesses. She can help with energy program applications or provide more information about both state and federal programming. In addition to individual consultation, Kayla hosts community and staff presentations on energy efficiency practices and opportunities for home upgrades.
